Instructions

Objective: Individually create a detailed design treatment for an original board game, covering the concept, gameplay mechanics, visual style, target audience, and inclusivity features. This foundational work will lead to further development phases.

1. Work on the below tasks (recommended to do in the order provided). 2, After you have the core concepts/sketches seek external feedback from 3 different people, preferably people from your target audience
2. Once all items are filled out, ensure this worksheet is saved and explore the PDF
3. Upload the PDF to a branch called `DesignTreatment` on GitHub
4. Create a pull request to main, and complete the merge
5. Upload the same PDF to Canvas

Section #1: (2 pts.) Crafting The Game Treatment

Progress: 100%

Task #1 (0.29 pts.) - Possible Title(s) of the Game

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Propose fitting title(s) reflecting the game's essence
- Explanation of title(s) choices

Your Response:

Stack attack Block Blitz Tower Blitz

Task #2 (0.29 pts.) - Game Setting

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Thoroughly describe the setting

Your Response:

fast paced construction challenge where players are competing engineers trying to build a single unstable tower before time runs out. The setting is abstract but framed as a high energy building competition

Task #3 (0.29 pts.) - Game Characters

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Thoroughly describe the characters

Your Response:

The Speed Builder (draws faster)

The Saboteur (can block others)

The Strategist (better card swaps)

The Risk Taker (bonus for high placements)

The Architect (can rotate a block once)

The Chaos Agent (forces sudden rule change)

Task #4 (0.29 pts.) - Game Theme

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Thoroughly describe the theme

Your Response:

Tension

Speed

Laughing at the collapse

Blaming each other

Strategic sabotage

Task #5 (0.29 pts.) - Game Story

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Thoroughly describe the story

Your Response:

Welcome to the annual "Ultimate Tower Challenge."

Builders from around the world compete to prove who is the fastest and smartest constructor.

But there's one twist:

They must all build the SAME tower.

If it collapses, the last builder to touch it takes the blame.

Only the most strategic and steady competitor will survive the chaos and win.

Task #6 (0.29 pts.) - Objectives and Conflicts

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Describe the goals and challenges within the game

Your Response:

Be the player who successfully places the most blocks onto the shared tower after 10 rounds. theres a Player vs Player

players are Racing to complete combos and Blocking others from placing blocks then theres Player vs Structure(Risk of collapsing the tower). finally Player vs Time, the Fast rounds create pressure

Task #7 (0.29 pts.) - Game Mechanics

Progress: 100%

Details:

- List each mechanic with supporting details to clearly portray the mechanic

Your Response:

2–8 players,Each player starts with:4 personal blocks, cards. Players simultaneously try to complete card combinations. When a combo(4 of the same suit) is completed: Player immediately places 1 block onto the shared tower.Draw back to 4 cards. Continue until round timer ends (60–90 seconds). If the tower falls:The player who touched it last:Loses 1 placed block (remove from score) or Skips next placement opportunity Tower resets. Round continues. To win after 10 rounds: Player with most successfully placed blocks wins.

Section #2: (1 pt.) Target Audience Analysis

Progress: 100%

Task #1 (1 pt.) - Identify and analyze the game's target audience

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Clearly identify the target audience
- Include analysis of demographics, interests, and gaming habits
- Justification of appeal to target audience

Your Response:

Ages 8+

Families

Party groups

Classrooms game appeals to: Competitive players,Social players, and strategic players. Its very easy to learn and short play time

Section #3: (1 pt.) Accessibility And Inclusivity Strategies

Progress: 100%

Task #1 (1 pt.) - Outline strategies to make your game accessible and inclusive

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Include considerations for diverse abilities
- Outline inclusivity strategies for a wide audience
- Discuss implementation of noted inclusivity strategies without compromising gameplay

Your Response:

Colorblind Friendly Use symbols and colors on cards Not color-only recognition for Motor Skills the Blocks are large and easy to grip Stacking not overly precise Minimal reading required

Section #4: (2 pts.) Pitch Preparation

Progress: 100%

Task #1 (2 pts.) - Pitch

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Summarize concept and theme
- Compellingly highlight target audience and unique selling points
- Emphasize how the game stands out in the current market

Your Response:

Imagine Jenga, but you earn your move by solving fast card combos. In Stack Attack, players race to complete combinations in their hands to earn blocks they must add to a shared tower. The twist? Everyone builds the SAME unstable structure. If it falls, someone takes the blame. super fast paced, competitive, strategic, and chaotic. Stack Attack is a 10 minute party game that turns simple stacking into high pressure fun.

Section #6: (2 pts.) External Feedback

Progress: 100%

Task #1 (0.67 pts.) - Feedback 1

Task #1 (0.67 pts.) - Feedback 1

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Note the person's name and relation to you
- Summarize feedback focusing on concept, mechanics, and style
- Reflect on how the feedback will be used to refine the design

Your Response:

Melanie, girlfriend "sounds like fun, could be a little complicated depending on the audience."

I dont really think its complicated but i can list out the instructions very clearly before.

Task #2 (0.67 pts.) - Feedback 2

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Note the person's name and relation to you
- Summarize feedback focusing on concept, mechanics, and style
- Reflect on how the feedback will be used to refine the design

Your Response:

Kaiser, Brother "It's creative combining two very chaotic games, you definitely added a more competitive angle to the game spoons, but its a bit confusing. The game can be complicated to understand." Maybe I just explained it in a hard way but I don't think the game is difficult in itself. but i will work on these difficulty comments.

Task #3 (0.67 pts.) - Feedback 3

Progress: 100%

Details:

- Note the person's name and relation to you
- Summarize feedback focusing on concept, mechanics, and style
- Reflect on how the feedback will be used to refine the design

Your Response:

johnny, girlfriends uncle " concept is strong because combining real time card combos with a physical tower creates chaos and forces people to be social. which seems simple, but you may want to tighten the blocking rules to prevent frustration or runaway leaders."
